

JAMES SIBLEY

has an optimistic view of things, and he takes a unique and hilarious look at family, friends and jobs. A little Southern sounding, but no simple minded redneck humor here. With a creative twist, James finds that most anything can be an object of humor, and he leaves his audience looking at the world a little different.

He's worked comedy clubs and theatres all over the country, from LA to New York and lots of places in between. James is a weekly series announcer for TNN and the Outdoor Channel, and regularly appears for special engagements on main stages across the country. He has done enough acting to misquote Shakespeare from memory. Come see why audience's coast to coast say "James Sibley makes me laugh".
